

The highlighted portions are an example of where to find the information I would like:

The screenshot shows the BGG page for 'Landships! Tactical Weapons Innovations 1914-1918 (1992)'. The page includes a sidebar with 'THE HOTNESS' section, a main header with game details (Rank, Overall, War, 1021), and a description section. The description is highlighted in yellow. The classification section is also highlighted in yellow.

Description:

Landships! Tactical Weapons Innovations 1914-1918 covers the Great War at its lowest level. The 420 playing pieces represent infantry platoons and cavalry squadrons, or a single tank or gun. Each turn is around 5 minutes and a hex on the eight geographic map sections is about 100 meters. Easy to play rules with over 20 scenarios get you started right away. Trace the story of the combat during the war; from the simple slaughters of 1914 to the sophisticated combined arms offensives of 1918. Includes 420 counters.

Classification:

- Type: Wargames
- Category: Wargame, World War I
- Mechanisms: Hexagon Grid
- Family: Players: Two Player, Only Games

Will provide: Two tables

Table 1 has two columns, a number and a link. Please include the number in the table with all the scraped data

Table 2 has one column of a link.

Number of rows: 77

Please add the desired columns below to this table. All information is found on the link provided.

Desired Columns:

1. Game Name (str)
2. Game Box (image next to the game title)
3. Minimum Players (int)
4. Maximum Players (int)
5. Recommended Players (int)
6. Playing Time (duration/int/in minutes)
7. Weight (float)
8. Alternate Names (str)
9. Designer (str)
10. Artist (str)

11. Short Description (underneath the game title)
12. Description (str) (full description, all data in this field)
13. Publisher (str)
14. Type (str)
15. Category (str)
16. Mechanisms (str)
17. Family (str)
18. Images (first 3)

For fields with more than one entry example:

Artist: Rick Barber, Paul Dangel, Terry Leeds

Please make an array of strings so that each one can be accessed individually

For the description sometimes there is a “more” button to expand the field. Please include the full description.